

Tanda & Donnell

Tanda & Donnell are service-minded individuals who happily give of themselves without concern for the financial burdens they've taken on. Donnell is an Army veteran that works as a recruiter and has opened a nonprofit to help other veterans become entrepreneurs. Tanda is a high school biology teacher and an entrepreneur herself. Despite their incomes, the cost of living in their area and a massive credit card problem have left them short on cash and not enough saved to give them peace of mind. Will Opportunity Coach, Jean Chatzky, teach them the skills they need to help their businesses thrive while planning for their retirement?
